Numb. 10073.

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Saturday January 24, to Tuesday January 27, 1761.

St. James's, January 27.

THE following Addreſs of the Corporation and Borough of Hedon, has been preſented to His Majeſty by the Right Hon. the Lord Anſon: Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

YOUR Corporation, and Borough of Hedon, attentive to the Cauſes which are moſt ſure to render a People truly great and happy, unite in the repeated Acclamations of Joy upon your Majeſty's Acceſſion to the Throne of theſe Realms.

We do with great Pleaſure hear of your Majeſty's Filial Love and Piety; Your Humanity and Reſpect to the different Orders of Men. Theſe were Virtues conſpicuous in the Manners of the Prince your Father, and are to us the certain Tokens of a good Heart. Theſe natural and inbred Principles have been improved with Age, and you have, at proper Seaſon, tranſplanted them into Life, that they may become the prevailing Maxims of your Government, and adorn the Annals of your Reign.

What may we not hope under the good Providence of God?

If we look back into Time, never did Prince aſcend a Throne under Auſpices more favourable. We love you for the Love we bore to your Royal Grandfather and Family; and make no doubt, from ſuch your own perſonal good Qualities, of ſeeing that Love always ſupported by the Firmneſs of your Conduct, and Lenity of your Adminiſtration; for which his Memory will be Sacred to future Ages.

He has left to your Majeſty's Care a People perhaps as generous, and valiant, as ever lived upon the Face of the Earth.

Your Fleets and Armies have conquered in all Quarters of the Globe. You are not only the King of Rivers and Lakes, but of Seas and Oceans, Nations and Languages.

May God protect your Majeſty in the Government of them. May you long live to make us all happy under you. And may you ever receive the Bleſſings due from a free and grateful People.

Given under our Seal, this Nineteenth Day of January, in the Year of our Lord, One thouſand ſeven hundred and ſixty one.

The following Addreſs of the Lord Lieutenant, Nobility, High Sheriff, Gentlemen, and Freeholders of the County of Norfolk, has been preſented to His Majeſty: Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Lord-Lieutenant, Nobility, High Sheriff, Gentlemen, and Freeholders of the County of Norfolk.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord-Lieutenant, Nobility, High Sheriff, Gentlemen and Freeholders of the County of Norfolk, filled with a due Senſe of the many Bleſſings derived to us from your Majeſty's Illuſtrious Houſe, embrace this firſt Opportunity of a General Meeting of our County, to unite in profeſſing our Sorrow for the Death of our late moſt gracious Sovereign; an Event, which your Majeſty has piouſly declared to be a Loſs to yourſelf, as well as your People.

But whilſt we look back with a melancholy Admiration, at the long and glorious Reign of your Royal Grandfather, we have this ſolid Comfort in the Concluſion of it, that His Crown and Virtues are inherited by your Majeſty; and that He lived to form that Union of our Hearts and Minds, with which we now congratulate your Majeſty's happy Acceſſion to the Throne.

Your Majeſty's Birth in this Iſland; your Education under the Care and Example of your Royal Parents; your Maturity of Age before you felt the Weight of Government; your many conſpicuous Virtues, and the Marks we have already received of your Majeſty's Wiſdom, and of your Affection for this your Native Country, are ſo many auſpicious Preſages of a happy and glorious Reign, that we are bound in Loyalty to promiſe your Majeſty every poſſible Inſtance of a dutiful and zealous Allegiance.

Our County has long been diſtinguiſhed by its Loyalty; and the early Example of our Militia, which influenced other Counties, had the Honour to be known and approved by your Majeſty: Our maritime Situation hath enabled us to exert the ſame Zeal, in contributing to ſtrengthen your Majeſty's Navy; and we acknowledge, with Gratitude, the Returns of Protection, which have been granted to our Trade.

Permit us, Sir, to aſſure your Majeſty of our invariable Perſeverance in the Principles which have recommended us to the Favour of your Royal Anceſtors, and of our entire Confidence, that our Religion and Liberties were never more ſecure than they will be under your Majeſty's Protection.

Upon theſe Principles and Motives we wiſh and pray, that your Majeſty's Reign may be long, peaceable, and glorious; and that when your Majeſty ſhall have provided, in Conjunction with your Allies, for the Tranquility of Europe, by giving Peace to your Enemies, your Majeſty may enjoy the Fruits of it, in the uninterrupted Proſecution of ſuch Meaſures as your Wiſdom ſhall deſign, for perpetuating the Happineſs of a free, loyal, and united People.

Dated at the Caſtle of Norwich, the Fourteenth Day of January, 1761.

The following Addreſs of the High Sheriff, Nobility, Gentry and Clergy of the County of Leiceſter, has been preſented to His Majeſty by Sir Thomas Palmer, Bart. one of their Repreſentatives in Parliament, being introduced by the Lord of His Majeſty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loya Subjects, the High Sheriff, Nobility, Gentry and Clergy of the County of Leiceſter, beg Leave to condole with your Majeſty upon the Demiſe of your Royal Grandfather, whoſe Lenity of Government had juſtly rendered him the Delight of his Subjects at home; and whoſe wiſe Conduct and Succeſs made him the Terror of his Enemies abroad.

Permit us, likewiſe, Great Sire, to congratulate your Majeſty on your peaceable Acceſſion to the Throne of your Anceſtors; an Event indeed of great Joy to every true Engliſhman; yet Hopes of greater Exultation, may the Britiſh Nation now conceive, whoſe Sovereign is pleaſed to glory in the Name of Briton, and eſteem it a Felicity to be born in thoſe Realms, educated in the Principles of that Religion, and in the Knowledge of the Laws under which he is ſo providentially called to govern and protect us.

A Reign

A Reign begun on ſuch a Baſis will be not only a Bleſſing to the preſent Generation, but from the Æra of your Majeſty's Acceſſion, Poſterity will date the further Eſtabliſhment of their Religion, Laws and Liberties.

May your Reign, Great Sire, thus auſpiciouſly begun, be long and glorious; Your Arms crowned with ſuch Succeſs, as may procure an honourable Peace; and your Majeſty continue, for many Years, to command the Hearts of an ever loyal and obedient People. Theſe are the ſincere Wiſhes of your dutiful Subjects of the County of Leiceſter, who, though we may be among the laſt in our Addreſs of Congratulations on your Majeſty's Acceſſion to the Throne; yet we ſhall always be with the firſt to defend the juſt Rights and Prerogatives of it.

The following Addreſs of the Juſtices of the Peace of the County of Devon, has been preſented to His Majeſty: Which Addreſs His Majeſty wa pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the KING.

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful, loyal and obedient Subjects, the Juſtices of the Peace of the County of Devon, in our General Quarter Seſſions aſſembled, beg Leave to approach your Royal Preſence, on the Occaſion of your Majeſty's happy Acceſſion to the Crown of theſe Realms; and to teſtify, in common with the reſt of our Fellow-Subjects, our unfeigned Joy, at ſo important and intereſting an Event.

When we reflect on the Virtues which have already ſhone forth in your Majeſty, we cannot but form in our Minds the Idea of a truly Patriot King; of Conſequence, whatever has been heretofore attempted for the Advancement of Religion, that grand Baſis of all Order and Society; whatever has been ſuggeſted for the more effectual Execution of the Laws, with regard to which the Power of the Civil Magiſtrate will ever depend much on the Royal Example; what Expedients ſo ever propoſed for the reconciling, as much as may be, our Differences and Diviſions, in ſome Meaſure, but the Effects of the Freedom of our Conſtitution: Theſe laudable Deſigns we hope to ſee carried on and compleated under your Majeſty's Government.

By acting, as thoroughly convinced of that great and inconteſtable Truth, that all Authority over others, is but a Talent intruſted for the Benefit and Good of others, ſeveral of your Majeſty's Predeceſſors (particularly your Majeſty's late Royal Grandfather, whoſe Loſs is univerſally lamented) have become eminent Bleſſings to theſe Kingdoms; and as ſuch, we aſſure ourſelves, will ſtand recorded in the Britiſh Annals, where no Flattery of Princes, no unmerited Reſpect for their Memories, can have Place: And ſince a ſteady Imitation of ſuch auguſt Patterns cannot fail of producing the ſame Effect, we have only to wiſh (which we moſt ardently do) that the Length and Duration of your Majeſty's Reign may be proportioned to the Glory and Happineſs expected from it.

By Order of Court,
William Spry, Clerk of the Peace.

The following Addreſs of the High Sheriff, Juſtices of Peace, Officers of the Militia, Barriſters at Law, and other Gentlemen of the County of Somerſet, has been preſented to His Majeſty by Sir William Yea, Bart. High Sheriff of the ſaid County, being introduced by the Lord of His Majeſty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

The humble Addreſs of the High Sheriff, Juſtices of Peace, Officers of the Militia, Barriſters at Law, and other Gentlemen of the County of Somerſet, aſſembled at the Quarter Seſſions at Wells the 13th of January, 1761.

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

TO permit us, your faithful and loyal Subjects, to approach your Sacred Perſon with our unfeigned Congratulations on your happy Acceſſion to the Throne of theſe Kingdoms.

It is not your Majeſty alone, but ourſelves and the reſt of our Fellow-Subjects, that we congratulate on this auſpicious Event.

For at a Time when the Nation is engaged in a burthenſome, though neceſſary War, when the Ambition of Foreign Princes has cauſed ſuch an Effuſion of Blood and Treaſure, when all the Friends of the Proteſtant Communion are lamenting the Loſs of your Royal Grandfire, who upheld the Cauſe of Religion and Liberty in Europe, we cannot ſufficiently admire, nor too gratefully acknowledge the Providence of God in placing the Sceptre in the Hands of a Prince, who, from His Virtues and Abilities, is equal to the great and arduous Taſk, which, at this moſt difficult Conjuncture, muſt unavoidably fall upon him.

Born and educated as your Majeſty was in this Country, we could not have doubted but that your Heart was truly Britiſh; but beſides this Security, we are indebted to your Goodneſs for the additional Sanction of your Royal Word, moſt ſolemnly plighted to your People.

We rejoyce to ſee your Majeſty perſevering in thoſe wiſe Counſels, which made your Illuſtrious Anceſtor triumph over His Enemies in every Quarter of the Globe; and which, in the Midſt of War, procured the Advantages of Peace to the Commerce of His Subjects.

Relying upon your Majeſty's Wiſdom and Firmneſs, upon the Courage and Conduct of your Sea and Land Forces, and, above all, upon the Divine Providence continuing to favour the Juſtice of our Cauſe, we have the ſtrongeſt Reaſon to hope, that Peace (to your Majeſty the only Motive for Hoſtilities) will ſoon be eſtabliſhed among us on a firm, ſafe, and honourable Baſis.

What then can be wanting to compleat our Happineſs in this Land of Liberty, (where the Hearts of the People are united under the Government of a Prince, who eſteems their Privileges equally with His moſt valuable Prerogatives) but that Spirit of Œconomy and thorough Reformation of Morals, which your Majeſty ſo ardently wiſhes and recommends, and of which you ſet ſo great, ſo glorious an Example?

And we beg Leave to aſſure your Majeſty, that we ſhall not fail, on our Parts, and in our ſeveral Stations, to advance this great Work, by diſcountenancing Vice and Immorality, by inculcating a Love of Virtue and Religion, by wiping out the Remembrance of Party-Diſtinctions, and by preſerving that Harmony and Unanimity which at preſent ſubſiſt among us.

To this we add our fervent Prayers, that your Majeſty's Reign may be very long, as we truſt it will make your People very happy; and that, when replete with Years and Glory, you ſhall be tranſlated to an immortal Kingdom, the Crown of theſe Realms may adorn the Brows of your Illuſtrious Line to the lateſt Poſterity.

The following Addreſs of the Bayliffs, Aldermen, and Burgeſſes of the Borough of Pool in the County of Montgomery, has been preſented to His Majeſty by Edward Kynaſton Eſq; Repreſentative in Parliament for the ſaid County, being introduced by the Lord of His Majeſty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Bayliffs, Aldermen, and Burgeſſes of the Borough of Pool in the County of Montgomery.

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Bayliffs, Aldermen, and Burgeſſes of the Borough of Pool in the County of Montgomery, after offering our Condoleance for the Loſs of our late Sovereign your Royal Grandfather, beg Leave humbly to preſent our unfeigned Congratulations to your Majeſty on your happy Acceſſion to the Throne of your Anceſtors; and, at the ſame Time, to return our moſt humble Thanks for your early Declaration, that you will preſerve and ſtrengthen both the Conſtitution in Church and State of this your Native Country; and alſo for moſt graciouſly condeſcending to glory in the Name of Briton. Permit us to aſſure your Majeſty of our Zeal and Affection for your Perſon and Government, and of our hearty Wiſhes, that your Majeſty's Forces, both by Sea and Land, may ſtrike ſuch Terror into the Hearts of our Enemies, that you may ſpeedily be enabled to eſtabliſh Peace upon a juſt, honourable, and laſting Foundation; and that your Majeſty may long and happily continue to reign over a free and united People.

Given under our Common Seal the Thirtieth Day of December, 1760.

Admiralty-Office, January 27.

Lieutenant John Jarvis, who commands His Majeſty's Armed Cutter the Hunter, gives an Account, in his Letter dated at Dartmouth the 23d Inſtant, That in proceeding to Weymouth, he ſaw a Cutter off the Berry Head, which he gave Chace to; and, after a warm Action of an Hour and Half, ſhe ſtruck, and proved to be the Revenge Privateer of Dieppe, Philip Clouer Dubuiſſon, Commander, mounting 6 Four Pounders, and 6 Swivel Guns, with 62 Men, two of whom were killed, and five wounded. The Hunter had but one Man ſlightly wounded.

ERRATUM.

The Addreſs of the Juſtices of the Peace, Gentlemen, Clergy, Freeholders, and Principal Inhabitants of the Iſle of Ely, inſerted in laſt Saturday's Gazette, was preſented to His Majeſty by the Right Honourable the Lord Viſcount Royſton, Lord Lieutenant of the County of Cambridge, his Lordſhip's Name being omitted by Miſtake.

Whitehall, January 24, 1761.

Whereas it has been humbly repreſented to the King, that many young Trees, belonging to Bernard Brocas, Eſq; of Wokefield Houſe, near Reading, Berks, have been cut down, and otherwiſe deſtroyed, in his Plantations, on the Waſtes in the Pariſhes of Mortimer and Sulhampſted, in the County of Berks, by Perſons unknown: His Majeſty, for the better diſcovering, and bring to Juſtice, the Perſons concerned therein, is pleaſed to promiſe His moſt gracious Pardon to any one of them, who ſhall diſcover, his, her, or their Accomplice, or Accomplices, ſo that he, ſhe, or they, may be apprehended and convicted thereof. W. PITT.

And, as a farther Encouragement, the ſaid Bernard Brocas, promiſes a Reward of Twenty Guineas to any Perſon making ſuch Diſcovery as aforeſaid, to be paid upon the Conviction of any one, or more, of the Offenders.

Bernard Brocas.
